I am delighted to have the opportunity to research and write grant proposals for the Defeat Diabetes Foundation. As requested, I have reviewed the DDF website and budget breakdown, and recommend focusing on the items below. The budget follows on page 2.

Areas that Likely Will Appeal to Funding Agencies and Foundations

1. Educational materials, including printed information and diabetes awareness videos, as well as testing kits distributed at no charge to schools and organizations
2. Acquisition of capital property (van, camera) to be used in the no-fee education of at-risk populations
3. Expenses (travel, etc.) associated with raising diabetes awareness with at-risk populations
4. Hiring of consultants who can assist in reaching Latino, African American, Asian, Pacific Islander, and American Indian populations
5. Expenses for strategies that create easier access to prevention information for those with limited reading ability, including the update of the website, streamlining the screening test to make it more consistent and user-friendly, and development of Public Service Announcements and other verbal strategies such as the ability for people to take the screening test verbally
6. If not currently available, research on the reasons for diagnosis avoidance, and the development of strategies to address the reasons for avoidance, such as promoting the benefits of early detection and the enjoyableness of healthy diet and exercise
7. A pilot coaching program for a small group of at-risk children that follows them for several decades
